

One of the Pacific Northwest's Top Game Retailers: High Cash Flow, Flexible Owner Hours, Great Location

This retailer of an all-inclusive gaming environment is available for acquisition. It offers just about any type of game a person can imagine including but not limited to: board games, role-playing games, card games, miniatures, vintage video games, dice, and gaming accessories and supplies.

In addition to offering a wide variety of games, it hosts a large number of in-store games and events which creates a sense of community, cross selling opportunities, and results in a "sticky" business that leads to repeat business. Events are coordinated both by store staff and by customers.

What some people are surprised to learn is how strong the board / table top game industry has become in recent years. Board game sales in the U.S. grew by 28% in 2016, and are expected to continue to grow at a compound annual growth rate of 9%, or 2-3x the rate of GDP growth, through 2022. These strong industry trends should contribute to this business' continued success in the coming years.

Unlike many single-location retail businesses, this business doesn't require crazy owner hours for a low level of compensation. Rather, there are well-trained staff in place which allow an owner to work flexible hours while enjoying 1-percenter income (seller cash flow for the most recent 12-months was a little under $600,000). It's also an enjoyable / social business to own. People come to the business primarily for entertainment and socialization, unlike need-driven businesses where people begrudgingly buy products or services (i.e. tire shops, office equipment, doctors, etc.). While a buyer doesn't need to have experience with gaming, if you like games you'll love owning this business.

Business Highlights

- Flexible owner schedule. One complaint that many owners of retail businesses have is being tied to their business including evenings and weekends. This business has a high level of delegation to well-trained and cross-trained staff which allows an owner to set their own hours, providing flexibility for personal life and obligations.
- High cash flow - this isn't buying a job. Many single-location retail businesses require a full-time, nearly-always-present owner, and only produce cash flow that's equivalent to earning a salary working for someone else. In contrast, this business generated about $600,000 of seller cash flow in the past 12 months.
- The hard work of establishing a true brand has already been done. It takes years of marketing, great service, satisfied clients, publicity, and reviews to establish a strong brand. A buyer will benefit from the reputation and goodwill that this business has already established, and which has allowed it to grow into one of the pre-eminent game stores in the region.
- It's a fun business to own. This business is very social, and attracts customers who are there to have fun and because they want to be there, as opposed to many businesses that are more need-driven where customers don't really want to buy the product and won't really get enjoyment out of them, but they are a necessity (i.e. tire stores, dentists, pharmacies, office equipment, etc.). If a buyer is already interested in gaming, then it provides a way to make a living doing something enjoyable.
- A great selection of games. With over 30,000 products, this business offers one of the largest selections of games in the region.
- An excellent location and facility. This business is housed in a large space conducive to hosting gaming events and is located in a prime central location with easy access to freeways and transit.
- Unique events and offerings. This business hosts a robust schedule of unique events which build a sense of community amongst its clients, resulting in "sticky" repeat business, as well as psychological switching costs.
- A reputation for customer service. As reflected in abundant customer reviews, this business is known for providing exceptional customer service by knowledgeable and passionate staff.
- Recession resistant. During economic downturns people seek more affordable forms of entertainment. During the "Great Recession" this business' sales grew 80%.

Opportunities

In addition to simply continuing to provide great service to current customers and capitalizing on the very favorable brand that this business has built that has resulted in strong repeat business, the following unexploited opportunities for growth have been identified:

- Actively pursue e-commerce / internet sales. This business has only dabbled in selling items on the internet, and it is generally agreed that this is a large untapped revenue source. It already has a strong brand and presence on-line, it just doesn't actively pursue sales of its products online. Internet sales would do a wonderful job of increasing market reach, worldwide presence, and serving loyal customers - particularly those who are remote and travel occasionally to store events.
- Open additional locations. This industry is growing rapidly but is highly fragmented. While this business has been successful in attracting customers from a fairly widespread geographic area, there may be an opportunity for opening other locations in the region to allow neighborhoods / the sub-market to be more conveniently and locally served. Likewise, the concept could be replicated in other geographic locations outside of the region. Growing the business into a multi-location company may help a buyer achieve a high exit price when they eventually sell.
- Increase the number or type of events. While this business already hosts a large number and type of events, there is plenty of opportunity to increase the volume and variety of events. This isn't limited to in-store general gaming events. It may also include business employee parties, team building, more kids camps, adult camps, after school programs, home school groups, farmers markets, off-site events and product promotion.
- Increase sales at game conventions. While the owner and staff do attend game conventions, they don't sell items at 25%-50% of these conventions. A buyer could choose to sell products at all or most of these conventions.
- Do a roll-up of independent game stores. The table top / board game specialty retail industry is highly fragmented. This business is one of the market leaders in this space. A buyer could use this as a platform investment and then pursue a regional or national roll-up of other game stores to achieve economies of scale.
