Business Summary

This family owned freight company has been operating profitably since 1966. They have been a trusted delivery company for businesses transporting items and materials all over Houston for well over 50 years. The company transports both commercial and non-commercial loads, such as non-hazmat or small hot shot deliveries for various companies. All drivers are independent contractors and typically use their own vehicles for deliveries, though the company has two vehicles that it owns and uses as needed for deliveries. The business currently does not do any warehousing or storage of shipments except for rare instances where they might hold a single load over-night on a truck. Customers include oil & gas companies, pipe fitting companies, construction companies, and other transportation companies who only transport large commercial loads. A single owner could replace the current ownership group's operational duties and would not be required to have any licenses or permits. This is a unique opportunity to acquire a profitable business with a strong customer service and earnings track record at an excellent value.
